CHATTANOOGA :: TENNESSEE

Why?

THIS little Booklet of 7000 copies is issued and distributed at our own expense in order to boost the Confederate Veterans' Reunion, and incidentally to call attention to our Famous M-C Line Loose Leaf Ledgers and Devices, and Printing.

Map hereto attached, showing important section of Chattanooga centering around the scenes of activity at the coming May Reunion, was specially prepared for this booklet. Preserve Booklet for reference, or send to a friend inviting him to come to Chattanooga Reunion week.

The information contained herein is official, having been furnished by Mr. J. F. Finlay, the General Secretary of the Reunion Association.

Yours very truly,

MacGowan-Cooke Printing Co.

Geo. J. Haley, President

1863=1913

A number of items make the approaching Reunion of the United Confederate Veterans and Sons of Veterans, May 27-28-29, in Chattanooga, of more interest even than the annual gathering of these bodies, and point to the best meeting in their history. The bloodiest battles of the Civil War were in this vicinity and the year 1913 marks the semi-centennial of these battles. The organization of the veterans practically began in Chattanooga; their first reunion was held here twenty-five years ago. There is no city of the South as interesting to the Veterans as is Chattanooga especially because of the terrible battle of Chickamauga, where 100,000 troops were engaged and the casualties numbered 16,971 on the Confederate side and 16,197 on the Federal side.

The United States government has parks including the battlefields of Chickamauga and Lookout Mountain, and Grant's Headquarters at Orchard Knob, and a system of Boulevards connecting them. On the battlefields the government and many states have spent millions of dollars in erecting monuments to the heroes in blue and gray, marked to explain the battles, improving the roads and preserving buildings that date back to the war. Historically, scenically and industrially there is perhaps no city on the continent that combines so much varied and general interest. Other cities may have more of interest in one of these respects, but not in all.

Chattanooga is making tremendous preparations to give the veterans the best entertainment they ever had. From $50,000 to $75,000 will be used, as befits this city and her reputation for hospitality. The veterans themselves — 10,000 at least are expected — will be cared for in a field camp splendidly planned and established for their comfort, safety and convenience. It will be located on historic ground, practically in the center of population, one of the city's largest parks and adjacent territory being used. Aside from the two or three official parades and other strictly reunion features, there will be such amusements as airship flights, a big spectacular presentation of "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," by from 1,500 to 2,000 people — mostly children — in Warner Park, the city's 43-acre playground, and others. No city in the South furnishes such abundant opportunity for interesting and educational trips — such as Missionary Ridge with its magnificent boulevard, monuments, fine homes and view of the entire surrounding country; Lookout Mountain (which can be reached by Incline or new electric line which is under construction) with many monuments and a view which takes in seven states, famous Moccasin Bend in the winding Tennessee River, the city, and has been declared the finest in the world; Signal Point on Walden's Ridge with its beautiful $100,000 hotel, which has just been completed, and many new summer homes, which can be reached by new James Boulevard — scenery viewed on this trip being unsurpassed — Interurban Railway now being built to Signal Point; Chickamauga Park and Fort Oglethorpe, the Post being for cavalry and already selected by the War Department for increase to a brigade post; to Riverview, crossing the river, giving a glimpse of the "Cliff Dwellers" in their beautiful picturesque homes on the bluff, finally reaching the Golf and Country Club set in a group of magnificent homes; the great power development a few miles below Chattanooga on the Tennessee River where the government is building the lock and private enterprise is erecting a dam and power house second only to Niagara; the Ocoee Power Plant, not many miles above Chattanooga, which now furnishes this city its electricity.

Lookout and the Tennessee

THIS beautiful view of the Tennessee River and Lookout Mountain is taken from the neighborhood of the tannery of the Union Tanning Company of Chattanooga.

The river intervenes twice between the spectator's point of view and the mountain, hidden the second time by the foot of the Moccasin.

The gap in the line of mountain crest against the sky shows station at the head of the incline.

The picture embraces the field of the so-called "Battle Above the Clouds."

BATTLE OF CHICKAMAUGA—FOUGHT 19-20 OF SEPTEMBER, 1863

By Chickamauga's crooked stream the martial trumpets
blew;
The North and South stood face to face, with War's dread work to do.
O lion-strong, unselfish, brave, twin athletes battle-wise,
Brothers yet enemies, the fire of conflict in their eyes,
All banner-led and bugle-stirred, they set them to the fight,
Hearing the god of slaughter laugh from mountain height to height.

Two days they fought, and evermore those days shall stand apart,
Key-notes of epic chivalry within the nation's heart.
Come, come, and set the carven rocks to mark this glorious spot;
Here let the deeds of heroes live, their hatreds be forgot.
Build, build, but never monument of stone shall last as long
As one old soldier's ballad borne on breath of battle-song.

—From Maurice Thompson's "Ballad of Chickamauga."

BATTLE ABOVE THE CLOUDS—FOUGHT NOVEMBER 24, 1863

* * * * *
See! where once the noise of battle
Rent the cloud-protected field,
And with clash of sword and sabre,
Men were crushed and forced to yield,
Now in peaceful transformation
Life is offered those who live—
Silent tribute from the carnage
Would these heights to mortals give!

Master, thou, of earth and heaven,
None more proud deserves to be!
Noble crest that reaches skyward
Drawing all men unto thee!
Poets bring their choicest laurels,
Potentates enraptured be,
As they stand on dear old Lookout,
Down in Sunny Tennessee!

—Lon A. Warner.

MOCCASIN BEND

A View from Point Park, Lookout Mountain

THIS picture is taken from near Point Rock. In the field of what is styled the "Battle Above the Clouds" is seen at the right an Iowa monument; to the left, further up the slope, one of New York; between them, to the right of heavy foliage, may be discerned part of the historic Cravens House, largely rebuilt since the battle. Below lie the famous Moccasin Bend and other windings of the beautiful Tennessee; at the right, Chattanooga; at the left beyond the heel of the moccasin and past the storied Brown's Ferry is Williams Island; in the distance, part of Chattanooga's splendid background of mountains.

How much money are you spending a month for printing? Are you getting results from it — are you sat-
